

2017 WORKSHOPS

Design Assessments for E-learning and Master the Art of Designing Multiple Choice Questions

$320 plus GST

This one day assessment design workshop provides instructional designers and assessment writers with the skills, knowledge and practice required to successfully design meaningful assessment activities for an e-learning environment. A core component of the workshop is the design of effective and reliable multiple choice questions.

We will explore the types of assessment activities that can be used to measure different types of learning and we will work through 20+ types of multiple choice questions. Unlike many of the online assessments currently used, you will see that the selection of the right techniques and methods for using multiple choice questions drastically affect their validity and depth. Additionally, the question wording and construction makes a difference.

Assessing Against Standards (Unit Standard 4098)

$350 plus GST

The two day Assessors' Workshop is designed to equip future assessors with the skills, knowledge and practice required to successfully assess the competence of candidates in a variety of situations. You'll have an opportunity to get your head around all the NZQA processes, terminology and expectations in a relaxed, fun and enjoyable way.

Needs Analysis

$320 plus GST

In this one day workshop you will uncover the process you need to follow and the tools you need to use to accurately conduct a meaningful needs analysis. The results of a sound analysis will determine the solution you need to put in place.

Plus option to complete NZQA Unit Standards in analysis for individuals, teams or whole organisations – an additional fee of $100 applies per unit standard selected.

Evaluation – including Return on Investment

$320 plus GST

A comprehensive set of tools and processes will be shared which blend the theories of Phillips, Kirkpatrick and Drucker – each gurus in measuring results. You'll leave the one day workshop armed with a format to follow and tools to use to measure any HR or training intervention.

Plus option to complete NZQA Unit Standards in evaluation of sessions or programmes – or the option to be mentored through an evaluation project in your role - additional fees apply.

Instructional Design and Delivery for Face to Face and Blended Learning

$600 plus GST

Plus option to be certified with an NZQA qualification – an additional fee of $600 applies

If you are involved in training adults, regardless of the type of training or the environment in which you train, this workshop will equip you with the skills and knowledge to really make learning happen. Tried and true adult learning theory is blended with the latest concepts and ideas to offer you a comprehensive yet concrete foundation to be a master trainer. Whether you are new to the training role or an experienced learning and development professional you will gain valuable insights that can easily be transferred to your role.

This two day workshop combines interactive and engaging learning with practical facilitation. You will leave the course having synthesised your own style into the demonstration of effective training. You will leave the workshop having taken a raw topic and designed a training session and have the tools to design a storyboard to transform it to an online module.
